Dear friends in Christ,

Praised be Jesus Christ! This weekend we celebrate our nation's independence. Please pray for our country, that we may never be independent of God. A nation that lives according to the laws and commandments of God is a nation that lives in freedom because it is only through His laws and commandments that true freedom can be experienced. May we not be afraid to profess our faith and live in freedom as sons and daughters of our heavenly Father. Thank you to all those men and women who have helped to make this freedom possible here in the great USA.

In today's Gospel, Jesus is not being accepted by those who seem to know Him the best, the people in His own hometown. Jesus says, "A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and among his own kin and in his own house." Isn't this true today! In many churches of today, whether it be Protestant or Catholic, the teachings of Jesus are not being accepted and they teach something that is a direct contradiction to the teachings of Jesus. There are many wolves in sheep's clothing in the world today. It is important that we recognize them for who they are...Satan's advocates. We must teach and live our Catholic faith in a way that will help others to once again be faithful to Jesus Christ and to His Church. In today's Gospel it reads, "He was amazed at their lack of faith." What would Jesus say about us today? Our Lord loves each and every one of us. All He asks in return is that we love Him. We show Jesus this love in loving one another and by loving His heavenly Father. Jesus says that those who keep the Commandments are the ones that love. Faithfulness is a sign of our love for God. So, do we really love God? Living in His love is the pinnacle of our life on this earth. Allow yourselves to experience God's love for you.

May all of you have a most blessed week.
